

Book Club 12/27/22

Six participants met Dec. 27 for a lively discussion.

Cher Terry read Strongmen: Mussolini to the Present by Ruth Ben-Ghiat. Cher recommends this book of non-fiction.

Sarah Tatum read Horse by Geraldine Brooks, a work of historical fiction that she likes and recommends.

Norma Brodsky read Leave the World Behind by Rumaan Alam. Norma thought this work of fiction needed stronger editing and does not recommend it.

Carol Mattaino read Women Talking by Miriam Toews, which is based on true events. Carol found this book strange and gives it a half-hearted recommendation.

Louise McLean read Slow Horses by Mick Herron. Louise liked and recommends this book of fiction.

Laurie Tracy read Taste by Stanley Tucci, a memoir that she likes and heartily recommends.
